Council-Manager Election Date Set For March 13

Bay St. Louis officials have set March 13 as the day voters will decide on whether to adopt the council-manager form of government or remain under the present commission council

City Clerk William Frisble certified that a petition requesting the election contained 665 signatures of qualified voters and only 634 were needed to call the election.

The council set the date for the election during a special meeting Monday morning. Both Frisbie and Commissioner Andre Arceneaux voted for the election date but Mayor Warren Carver asked that consideration be given to holding the election on Saturday, March 10. Carver said that he felt a Saturday would be better because it would give students attending school away from Bay St. Louis a chance to vote. Carver voted against the March 13 date.

At a Jan. 18 meeting, the council agreed to purchase a Civil Defense warning system from Jack Cocke and Co., in the amount of $13,771.50. A portion of the cost for the system is being borne by a private citizen according to Commissioner Frisbie. Mayor Carver voted against the purchase

Mothers March Slated Sunday

The annual Mothers March on birth defects takes place in Hancock County on January 28. Contributions are used for support of research and medical services sponsored by the March of Dimes at medical centers and teaching hospitals throughout the nation.

Mrs. Dan Russell, March of Dimes Campaign director, says that approximately 250 volunteers will canvass neighborhoods for prevention and treatment of birth defects. Volunteers can be identified by March of Dimes badges and information materials.

badges and information materials.

"Funds benefit a wide range of Medical Service Programs," notes Mrs. Russell. "Prenatal care programs for 'high risk' mothers and intensive care nurseries for the critically ill newborn are two of our expanding areas of concern.

"Genetic counseling, screening for genetic disorders, such as sickle cell anemia, and public health education about vaccines that can prevent congential rubella and Rh blood incompatibility, offer unparalleled promise for improving the quality of life at birth.

"Please help," she urges. "The task is mighty. More basic and clinical research must be directed at the causes of congenital disease, but we have reached an encouraging start for these probings. Birth defects are forever—unless you help."

Grand Jury Indicts Equipment Salesman

A salesman for a Mississippi heavy equipment company was indicted by a federal grand jury Friday in Biloxi and charged with three counts of perjury and three counts of obstruction of justice, in violation of United States Code, Sections 1623 and 1503.

Hugh P. Ellard, 306 Highland Drive, Koscinsko, was charged with perjury during testimony in an earlier grand jury investigation concerning payments made to certain county supervisors, a spokesman in a U.S. attorney's office in Jackson told the Echo Wednesday.

According to a portion of the 15-page indictment, Ellard's earlier testimony came during an investigation into "income tax evasion, mail fraud, interstate travel and transportation in aid of racketeering enterprises, false statements and other federal prohibited criminal acts".

Ellard was charged with perjury for statements he made to the grand jury concerning checks he received from Allied Equipment Company, for whom he was reportedly a salesman.

On February 19, 1968, he received two checks from Allied, in the amounts of $2550 and $2600. The money, Ellard testified, was allegedly used for construction costs to his home.

In November of the same year Ellard

Lott Opens Local Office

Congressman Trent Lott has announced the opening of a full-time Congressional office in Gulfport.

Lott said his Gulfport office, located on the second floor of the Post Office building, opened for business Wednesday morning. The office will maintain regular office hours.

Miss Marie Darsey, a veteran employee of retired Congressman William M. Colmer, will head the Gulfport office. She will handle all problems, particularly those involving social security, veterans administration, and the military.

Lott said the local office will be equipped with direct line telephone service to the Washington office. The service is free to the people of the Fifth.

"We wanted to make our services readily available to the people of the Fifth District," Lott said. "By maintaining offices right there in the district, we can keep a line of communication open to the people."

our request, stayed on a year longer than he had planned so as to represent the Association in litigation before the Federal Power Commission. Mr. Shattuck will stay on full time for two months to assist our new general manager in the transition of the duties of the position and as General Manager Emeritus serve as a consultant to him and the board thereafter.

Shattuck Retiring

From Coast Electric

The board of directors has named Henry L. Thomas to succeed Shattuck. Thomas has served as manager of the Harrison County branch office for several years.

Shattuck came to Coast Electric July
1, 1948. Graduating from Mississippi
State in 1932 in electrical engineering, he worked with the Mississippi Highway Department, was engaged in the appliance business for several years, and in 1940 accepted a position as field
engineer with the Rural Electrificiation Administration and continued with the REA in various capacities, becoming assistant regional head in the management division, which he left to assume the position of general

Shattuck served 15 years as the Mississippi Director on the National Board of NRECA, the rural electrics' service organization. He has served as secretary-treasurer, vice president and president of the State Association of Electric Power Associations.

manager at Coast Electric.

Shattuck has been active in the civic affairs of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County sind Mississipp. He has served as president of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, the Bay St. Louis Planning Commission, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and was one of the organizers and first president of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. He was appointed to the Mississippi Marine Resources Council by former Governor John Bell Williams and continues as a member of this important committee.

He also serves on the administrative board and as president of the board of trustees of the Main Street Methodist Church of Bay St. Louis, He is a director of the Merchants Bank and Trust Company of Gulfport.

He was recently named commodore of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club by the board of governors of the club. Shattuck recounted highlights of his quarter century with Coast Electric:

In 1949 the association constructed a headquarters building west of Bay St. Louis. In 1965 a branch office was opened in Picayune. In 1967 a branch office was opened in a trailer on Dedeaux Road in Harrison County. Later, the same year, the office was moved to leased facilities in Norwood Shopping Center aix miles north of Gulfport.

In 1971 the association moved into what will become the first phase of a new headquarters building. The original building has been renovated to accommodate the engineering and operating departments. A new warehouse is in the planning stage; as is a branch office building for Harrison County.

In 1950 the association employed 32 persons, but now more than 100 are needed to keep up with the ever-expanding area. Payroll now exceeds $750,000 dollars annually. From the beginning of 50 members in 1937, Coast Electric has constantly grown so that it now serves 18,300 and operates nearly 2,500 miles of distribution facilities.

Grant Sentences Catahoula Man

A 30-year-old Catahoula community man pled guilty to a narcotics charge as well as assault and battery charges in circuit court Monday and was fined more than $1,000 for both offenses by Judge Leslie B. Grant.

Marshall Elizey, Jr. was charged February 28 with possession of three pounds of marijuana when sheriff's deputies searched a Catahoula house he had been living in. At the time, Elizey was in the county-jail on an assault and battery arrest.

. In the Monday hearing, Judge Grant assessed a fine of $500 plus court costs and six months in the county jail against Elizey on each of the two charges, time spent in jail following his arrest to be counted off the sentences. Grant based his sentence against Elizey for the narcotics charge on a Supreme Court ruling in effect at the time of Elizey's arrest, which ruled that possession of a controlled substance, regardless of quantity, was considered a misdemeanor and placed a maximum fine of $500 for the offense.

Among other cases considered was that of Cecil A. Roberts, indicted for manslaughter by the January grand jury. Roberts entered a plea of not guilty in arraignment proceedings.

Trial was set for July 12.

New Orleans' jazz clarinetist Peterountain, has been named Grand Marshal of the Krewe of Nereids Parade February 25 in Waveland.

The Parade will roll at 2 p.m. along a route through Waveland, and will culminate the yearly Mardi Gras celebration of the Krewe of Nereids, an all-female organization.

Pete Fountain was born, bred and is firmly rooted in New Orleans, birthplace of jazz. He is imbued with the musical history of the city, as is its French quarter-where he got his first job playing the clarinet in a burlesque honky-tonk. And his real name attests to his Southern French heritage: Pierre Dewey La Fountaine, Jr.

Owner and regular star of his own Bourbon Street cabaret in New Orleans, Pete Fountain's French Quarter Inn, Pete is seldom persuaded to leave his beloved city to make personal appearances that self-admittedly would be beneficial to his career. Pete worries about the welfare of his bartenders, waitresses and musicians when he is forced to close the club. In the beginning, when he would accept our of-town dates, Pete tried to keep his club open by engaging other musicians.

-but it seems the public will settle for nothing other than Pete himself.

nothing other than Pete himself.

The public has learned to cast a wary eye at "fairy-tale" careers, but as hard as it might be to believe, New Orleans' jazz clarinetist Pete Fountain was virtually born with a clarinet in his hands.

Fountain, now the recipient of critical superlatives once reserved only for the great Benny Goodman, inherited his musical inclination from his father; the difference being that Pete's father played several instruments and only as a hobby.

When he was eight years old, Pete's parents found him playing on the living room floor with the old clarinet his father had left lying on the couch following a practice session. Encouraging their son to like the instrument instead of scolding him, the clarinet from that day on became Pete's favorite toy-which his father would hold for Pete to blow squeaky noises on.

At the age of ten, Pete enrolled at the John Wigg's State Band School of Music and later on developed his exciting instrumental technique by sitting in, uninvited at first, at private jam sessions held by Burbon Street's top jazzmen.

It was at one of these sessions that Pete met the man who was to influence his career the most; the late-Irving Fazola, one of the original Bob Crosby Bobcats, who became his teacher and friend. From then on, Pete was on his way. Except for a seven-month stint in Chicago in 1953 with the dukes of Dixieland, and a two-year sojourn in Hollywood in 1957-59 when he was associated with the Lawrence Welk TV Show, Fountain has remained where his roots are- -In New Orleans, where he is credited with helping to put the city, the birthplace of jazz, on the musical man once more.

Now owner of his own Bourbon Street cabaret, Pete Fountain's French Quarter Inn, Pete says he's never going to leave home again except for occasional personal appearance tours and TV guestings, such as "The Andy Williams Show," "Ed Sullivan Show," "Danny Kaye Show," "Bing Crosby Show," "Beil Telephone Hour" and "The Bob Hope Show" which, along with his Coral Records, have helped to make him one of the jazz greats of our time.

While watching television coverage of the Presidential Inauguration Saturday, viewers may have been struck with the notion that newspeople and announcers were either bored or ill-prepared or both. In any event, there was too much said about too little.

At the end of the night, Barbara Walters and Edwin Newman resorted to such burning issues as -WHO KISSED HENRY KISSINGER (it was Barbara herself) and an involved anecdote about a live chicken which had escaped from one of the displays at the Smithconian, the scene of one of five Inaugural Balls. Believe it or not however, viewers were lucky-they saw the meaty part of the day's activities. What they didn't see were interviews and cute little stories which didn't get on the air. Here are just a few:

1) An interview by Ms. Walters with a washroom attendant who has served in the Capitol for the last six Inaugurations. Barbara begins the interview by asking, "How do your tips this year compare with previous Inaugurations?"

2) A network special on the day-byday job of a reviewing stand construction worker. The title? "If I Had A Hammer- -The Journey Of A Car-

3) A debate between Julia Child and the Galloping Gourmet on the relative merits of serving hollandaise or ber naise with the string beans at the President's luncheon. La plume de ma tante...s'il vous plait? (Will be telecast at a later date on ETV)

Three psychologists discuss Should Transvestites Be Allowed To Watch The Inaugural Parade?" David Susskind moderates this panel.

5) William F. Buckley traces the conservative point of view of the history of Inaugurations. Gore Vidal speaks for the liberals.

6) Lawrence Welk emcees a program of Inaugural music of the past. Featured artists will be Herb Alpert. Johnny Cash, 1000 Strings and Grand

Those are just samples of the many things networks had in store for you if time had permitted. Similarthings are planned for future marathon coverage,

We have another suggestion. Perhaps the networks could lump such programs as the Miss America Pageant, the Republican and Democratic conventions, election coverage, and all awards shows such as Oscar, Emmy and Grammy and run them all in one week. I would like to take this apportunity and this column to say to the City Officials of Waveland "Thank you." I think it is about time someone thanks you for a marvelous job of street. maintenance. Good work is never acknowledged so you do need a pat on What am I yapping about? Well, of course, Pine Street off St. Joseph. The street sign says Chagnard Street, I. have often wondered why.

The few holes the street had two days ago were sort of half scraped and filled so traffic could go thru as Herlihy St. was closed for sewer work. Then on one side of the street the ditches were passed thru. This was fine. A job half done is better than nothing.

Today, Jan. 18, 1973 at 7 a.m. here comes the grading machine. What a glorious work of art, Were you officials aware of this? No? Well this is what it is. The middle of the roadway was graded leaving all the loose stuff to fly to the four winds with the extra traffic. I am hoping it will pack before it rains. The street will be a sloppy slippery muck that cannot be walked on if it rains. Experience prevails, this has happened before.

The sides of the street are anywhere from one to four inches higher than the center. Grass and weed growth too. Some of the homeowners do cut in front of their places? How can water flow up and over this blockage?

The water and muck will only help in the making of holes and ruts and my blood pressure going up everytime I have to use this public street.

. This street was always correctly maintained when the county was responsible before Waveland annexed it. The ditches were pulled and the center crowned. Now it has gone to pot. I know what you are thinking city officials. Why haven't I talked to my alderman? Well I have twice, Once when he came looking for our votes, The second time - he had no time for my complaint. Thank you, but I don't have to waste my time trying to talk to him.

I would like to know what is being,... done to divert I-10 traffic from bypassing Waveland-Bay St. Louis? If my memory serves me right a committee was formed over a year ago to do something about this problem-our legislators were duly informed of this situation and if I am not mistaken a task force was to erect a hospitality booth on I-10 near the truck scales to inform travelers of the route along the Gulf Coast, If my information serves me well the task force got this permission but so far nothing has been

We people in Hancock County take too much for granted. What happened to this Committee? What happened to the task force? Who or what is going to stop these travelers from by-passing Waveland-Bay St. Louis when I-10 is opened all the way later this year. We are late-never too late to do something and I believe all good citizens should rally to get this committee activated and get this Hospitality booth built County begin the Beautiful Gulf Coast.

FOR PARENTS OF "THUMB-

"Ninety-nine percent of worry about children's sucking of thumbs or fingers is unnecessary," says the chairmen of pediatric denistry at the University of California School of Denistry. It is the parents' and teachers' concern about the habit, rather than the sucking, that "can be positively harmful," according to Dr. T.K. Barber.

Making a big deal out of thumbsucking only fixates the habit, makes it harder for the child to outgrow it, and .-- and most serious of all - makes the youngster feel rotten about himself, emphasizes the expert.

Only one percent of kids continue to suck their thumbs long enough to cause dental problems, he says. Eighty-seven percent will stop of their own accord by the time they're three years old. Another 12 percent will abandon their thumbs before they're five.

Two less common habits that are far more likely to affect a child's teeth often go unnoticed by parents a tonguethursting and mouth-breathing. Tongue-thursting is an infantile way of swallowing that pushes upper and lower front teeth forward if continued too long. Barber estimates that two to five percent of children with this habit never learn to swallow normally unless an orthodonist or speech therapist steps

Mouth breathing, which also causes front teeth to protrude, usually begins with obstruction of the nose during respiratory infections between the ages of four and nine. The habit can be corrected through practices of nose breathing or wearing a device at night which forces the young sleeper to breathe through his nose.

USDA estimates that a family of two ages 20 to 35 can have adequate nutritious meals at home for one week for the following costs: low-$19.40, moderate - $24.60 and liberal - $30.50.

USDA also estimates that a family of four with school children the same type menus for one week might cost; low $32.60, moderate - $41.70 and liberal -$51.40. Estimates for families of other sizes vary with number of persons and their ages. The meat, poultry, and fish items in meals usually cost the most. In fact, the latest national food-consumption survey by USDA shows that more than one-third of the money U.S. families spend for food goes for this group of foods. UREA PROTEIN

Hancock County

You can save around $10 a ton on feed costs by using urea as a partial source of needed protein. Urea can be substituted for up to one-third of the total protein in a ration. Dairy cows must be switched to urea gradually as sudden changes from protein meal to the maximum urea content in a ration can result in heavy decreases in milk production.

SOYBEAN VARIETIES FOR 1973 Most soybeans planted in Mississippi this year will be of the same varieties that we have planted for the past several years. But here are some promising new varieties that will be available. You might want to give some of them a try,

Among the new varieties is Mack. Seed should be in moderate supply for this growing season. It is similar to Dare and seed yields have been similar,

It has an advantage over Dare in greater resistance to phytophthora root rot and the cyst nematode. It will perform better than Dare on the heavy, slowly drained soils and fields infested with cyst nematode.

Another relatively new variety, which should be considered more seriously, is Pickett 71. It is similar to Lee in growth and maturity, but also has resistance to phytophthora root rot and cyat nematode. Yields of Pickett 71. have equaled Lee even where cyst nematode and phytophthora root rot did not exist

The most recently released Mississippi variety is Forrest. It looks great, but it will be 1974 before seed of Forrest are available for large scale planting.

BROADCASTING FER-TILIZER

You can save some money on your fertilizer costs by having the material broadcast by spreader trucks. But to get the most good out of broadcasting fertilizer, you must get even distribution.

As a general rule, this means overlapping each swath about onethird. Under field conditions, if the swath cannot be accurately determined by the driver, a flagman should be used at each end of the field to make sure that-the swaths overlap properly.

THE PRAYER OF FAITH How may you be assured of the constant relationship with God that produces answered prayer?

Note carefully that it is a possibilityeven a reality. The Scripture says:

seed, ye shall say unto this mountain, Remove hence to yonder place; and it shall remove; and nothing shall be impossible unto you (Matthew 17:20). All things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive (Matthew 21:22).

All things are possible to him that believeth (Mark 9:23).

Therefore I say unto you, All things whatsoever ye pray and ask for, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them (Mark 11:24 A.S.V.).

The secret then, the heart of answered prayer, lies within the key to each of these verses. Believe, believe, believe, believe. You must simply believe that God is going to answer your prayer. It must be a prayer of faith. To believe that He can answer, that He is able, that He does possess the power to do it, is not faith. It is to believe unhesitatingly that He will, that He is on the verge of doing it, and that even now, the answer is on the way.

The dictionary defines faith as trust in the honesty and truth of another. The prayer of faith is simply that, trusting, believeing that God is honest and will therefore do what He says He will.

Where I to say to you, "Do you believe God can stop communism, revive the U.S.A., or win every unconverted man in your community tonight?" You would most certainly say, "Yes, I know He can, He is surely

But this is not faith. We think that it is but it is not!

Let me ask you, not "Do you believe God can?" but "Do you believe God will do these things?" Would you not have to reply, "Well I'm not sure that He will"? Remember this: Faith is not believing God can, Faith is believing God will.

The reason so little is accomplished by most of us is that we expect so little. Most people aim at absolutely nothing in life and hit it right on the head! We pray the same way. We believe that He can, but we do not believe that He will. Let us believe He will. Straight Ahead!!!

Legislative Report

by EARL "BUCK" LADNER STATE REPRESENTATIVE HANCOCK COUNTY

The floor action was almost at a standstill this past week in the House of Representatives. Among the few bills which were taken up was House Bill 10, which allows Circuit Judges in the state of Mississippi to recall grand jurors in vacation. Senate Bill 1531 provides that war veterans organizations not pay rent for use of the War Veterans Memorial Building. Both of these bills passed with very little opposition.

On January 17, House Bill 654, of which I am a co-author, was introduced in the House of Representatives, If passed by the house and senate it would direct the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning to establish a school of Veterinary Science at Mississippi State University.

• I would like to thank Supervisors James Travirca and Jerry Ladner and Bay St. Louis Commissioner Andre Arceneaux for taking time to attend the public meeting last Saturday at Scafidi's Restaurant with Senator Martin Smith and myself.

On Saturday, January 27, Senator Martin T. Smith and myself will again meet with the public at Scafidi's Wheel Inn Restaurant at 2 p.m.
